

Abstract Of The Disclosure

An apparatus for determining inherent vehicle velocity determines the inherent vehicle velocity using the pre-crash sensor suite. The determination is performed on the basis of signals reflected from road surfaces. The determination is performed 5 only when a predefined operating state exists, such as a locked, slipping or suspended wheel.